With the support of a generous community, MOAA charities made a significant impact helping military families.
As the MOAA Charities team forges new paths to meet the evolving needs of those we serve, we feel it is important to stop and appreciate the progress we have made and extend our sincerest gratitude to everyone who collaborated with us to make our work possible.

The year 2021 was difficult — the pandemic raged on, presenting everyone with challenges no one could have predicted a few years ago. The adversity many faced during the pandemic also shed light on some of the underlying issues impacting our uniformed services community every day — skyrocketing costs of continuing education, lack of resources during emergency situations, and a reluctance to ask for help.

Realizing the pandemic caused many to face unforeseen hardships, The MOAA Foundation turned to MOAA’s network of 400 councils and chapters to provide aid at the local level. With an understanding of the challenges their local communities faced, the foundation distributed more than $85,000 in grants to qualifying MOAA councils and chapters to help those in need. Programs helped alleviate food insecurity, provide mental health resources, connect veterans with job training programs, and so much more.

We know from our almost 75 years of experience that helping ease the financial burden of college tuition helps students and families succeed. With the cost of continuing education skyrocketing, the MOAA Scholarship Fund increased the amount of grants distributed to students by more than $750,000 in 2021. Knowing that children of military families sacrifice so much as their parents serve our country, we will continue to find new ways to alleviate as many obstacles to education as possible.

Thanks to our generous donors, The MOAA Foundation and the MOAA Scholarship Fund can provide programs, resources, and financial assistance to so many in our community who need our help. MOAA members have stepped up to support our missions and ensure those who have served our country are able to live a life reflective of their selfless service.

As the stewards of your charitable contributions, our team works tirelessly to ensure our programs and services provide meaningful assistance to every active-duty servicemember, veteran, military family, surviving spouse, and caregiver who comes to us for help.

Our 2021 Annual Report highlights some of the incredible individuals your donations have allowed us to serve, shares the impact we were able to make in just one year, and recognizes the individuals and organizations providing the financial support that makes our work possible.

To everyone who allowed MOAA Charities to serve our community, please accept our deepest gratitude.

Sincerely,
The MOAA Charities Team

When I called MOAA, they called me back within 40 minutes. Maybe two or three days later, I got the check in the mail. It was fast! Altogether, it was about two weeks to receive assistance. That was the fastest assistance I received. From what I have experienced so far, MOAA is there for the veteran and responds quickly. Veterans have somewhere they can call to receive help.

DONALD CALLANDS
COVID-19 Emergency Relief Grant Recipient

Mr. Callands, a blind Navy veteran, received a COVID-19 Emergency Relief Grant from The MOAA Foundation to help pay his utilities during the COVID-19 pandemic. The COVID-19 Relief program was instrumental in helping members of the uniformed service.

The Luke MOAA Chapter assisted Philicia Bupp and her family with funds received from The MOAA Foundation’s Community Outreach Grant program. The Community Outreach Grant program was able to fund 96% of applications received in 2021, distributing more than $87,000 to MOAA chapters working in their local communities.

‘My children and I wanted to give you all a huge thank you to the MOAA program. You all have given your absolute heart and soul to helping others; we find it quite amazing. Giving us hope in such a rough time is the most gracious gift we could ever imagine.’

USES

Career Transition:
- More than 1,500 individuals registered to meet with employers from top-rated companies, such as Amazon, CACI International, Leidos, U.S. Customs and Border Protection, and Hewlett-Packard, who were looking to fill hundreds of open positions.
- In Q4 of 2021, the career transition team attended 20 in-person events, including presentations at local installations and events hosted by outside groups.

Professional Education Outreach:
- MOAA’s experts provided financial counseling, conducted finance and benefits webinars, and connected individuals with resources and professional development information to the broader military and veteran community. In 2021, we provided access to our virtual events to more than 28,000 individuals, an increase of more than 30% in just one year.
- In 2021, more than 300 enlisted members from all branches of the military had access to expert advice on financial planning and military benefits.

Military Spouse Professional Development:
- More than 2,100 military spouses registered for our career transition events, finance and benefits webinars, and career transition lectures.
- More than 600 military spouses had access to our virtual career fairs, which allowed attendees to meet with hiring managers from top companies, receive advice on establishing a career that can move with them, and gain confidence in their professional abilities.
- To eliminate obstacles in virtual schooling and employment, in 2021 spouses could apply to receive a free telework kit even if they were not PCSing.

Community Outreach Grants:
- The MOAA Foundation distributed more than $85,000 in grants to local MOAA councils and chapters providing direct relief, support, and resources to local communities across the country. Grants were used to support a variety of programs, such as a K-9 Therapy collaboration to end Veteran Suicide in Clearwater, Fla.; emergency assistance to veterans experiencing homelessness in El Paso, Texas; the purchase of computers for a Veterans Homeless Shelter in Olympic Peninsula, Wash.; and so much more.

Crisis Relief:
- Almost 200 applications for our COVID-19 Emergency Relief Program were processed in 2021.
- With help from our generous donors, more than $87,000 was distributed to assist those facing hardship because of the pandemic.
- After seeing the overwhelming need paired with the generosity of our MOAA community, The MOAA Foundation will be cementing our commitment to Crisis Relief by establishing a fifth pillar of support in the coming years.

‘There are a lot of charitable institutions that give, but there are a lot of requirements. [The] idea with MOAA is to ... just react to the people and help them out of their predicaments and help them to lead better lives.’

— Col. Mary J. Mayer, USAF (Ret), Heritage Society member

Supporting MOAA Continues Husband’s Legacy of Service

Born just three years after the end of World War I, Stanley Melvin grew up in a nation riding a swell of patriotism. His father had served in the Great War, a time in which even children were taught the importance of donating time and money for the good of community and country.

By the time Melvin graduated in 1942 with a degree in chemical engineering from Stanford University, where he’d been a member of the ROTC, America was at war again. He was commissioned into the U.S. Army, serving first in the artillery and then the Chemical Corps where his country needed him most.

“He was about to go to Japan and was all packed up and ready,” said Jean Melvin, his wife of 52 years. “President Truman said it was going to be hand-to-hand fighting with the Japanese and a bitter loss for both sides. That’s when the first atom bomb was dropped, and then the second.”

After the war, Stanley Melvin began a career at Monsanto Chemical Company. He also continued to serve in the Army Reserves for more than 30 years, retiring with the rank of colonel.

Stanley Melvin died in 2021 at the age of 100, but not before a lifetime of giving to causes that were important to him, said Jean Melvin, who today carries on that legacy. Since their first donation in 2002, the Melvins have donated more than $30,000 to the MOAA Scholarship Fund. In 2021, Jean Melvin expanded their reach when she also started supporting The MOAA Foundation.

“I try to keep up with all the things that he liked to keep up with. He was very patriotic,” she said. “He really loved his Reserve duty. He served at the Pentagon ... and taught at the Military Academy at West Point. He was very interested in the welfare of families whose husbands were either injured or killed in the wars.”

Jean Melvin shares in her husband’s love of country and desire to give back. She went to secretarial school after high school and worked in Boston during World War II. “There was such patriotism in the country during that time,” she said.

While she learned a lot through wars and hard economic times, Jean Melvin said, “I’ve learned to find great happiness in all the good times you have.”

MISSION

The Military Officers Association of America (MOAA) established the MOAA Scholarship Fund in 1948 and to this day continues to provide education assistance to children of both officer and enlisted personnel. Those dependents who meet the requirements and qualifications to receive these scholarships and further educational assistance benefits encompass one of the association’s founding principles: Education is the cornerstone of a strong democracy. It is funded by donations from MOAA members, Councils and Chapters, corporations, and others with a desire to help military families.

‘Growing up in the military has allowed me to feel more independent and granted me the ability to get up and go. I appreciate this grant not only for its amount, but for what it represents and who it helps. Thank you very much for this honor.’

— Sophie K., Grant Recipient

Matthew Donnelly is one of hundreds of students who received an Educational Assistance grant through the MOAA Scholarship Fund. Thanks to generous donors, Matthew can focus on his studies and excel in his college courses.

‘My parents have worked multiple jobs each to help support me through school, and I myself have worked through my summers and breaks. Having this financial relief is a huge weight off our chests. I know the impact that this amount of money can have on anyone’s life ... I am extremely thankful that I have been selected as the recipient.’
