Chair, MOAA Scholarship Fund

The coronavirus has shown the importance of communities working together to pull through a crisis. Through it all, MOAA's charities have continued their efforts to do just that.

MOAA's motto of never stop serving resonates with those who have served. They understand the importance of helping others in our communities to learn, achieve, lead, and keep serving. Intuitively, we know giving back is how we help future generations and how we maintain our nation's strength. None of us can say we haven't benefited from those who have gone before us, and now it's our turn to give back and "pay it forward." The impact of our generosity has a ripple effect, which can be felt across generations. A spirit of generosity helps grow a community of paying it forward.

MOAA's board of directors — each one a volunteer — recognizes the value and importance of MOAA's charities. Each board member has volunteered their time and contributed from their financial resources to support both the MOAA Scholarship Fund and The MOAA Foundation. As a MOAA member, you can be confident our entire leadership team supports our charities' philanthropic missions.

The MOAA Scholarship Fund has provided education assistance to children of military servicemembers since 1948. Every dollar donated supports more than 1,200 students each year through interest-free loans and grants, which can make all the difference for students as they pursue advanced education. When the cost of education rises at rates several times faster than family income, MOAA's assistance is instrumental in avoiding years of crushing debt.

All members of the military community — whether active duty, reserve, caregivers, survivors, or retired servicemembers and their families — benefit from The MOAA Foundation's programs. Career transition and professional development programs include the annual Military and Veteran Networking Forum, virtual career fairs, and numerous educational webinars devoted to specific career-development subjects. Military spouse professional development programs are aimed at assisting spouses with unique career development challenges. Community outreach grants support MOAA chapters serving local military families and veterans of all ranks, and providing assistance in housing, financial assistance, behavioral health, and more.

Our charities provide MOAA the capability to serve philanthropically. With the two longest wars in American history continuing and with the unprecedented pace of social and technological change, our servicemembers and their families remain under strain. We've benefited from the help of those who've gone before us. We ask you to consider that same generosity of spirit and resources; together, we will help those in need.

Scholarship Fund and Foundation donors have been drawn to the missions of these charitable endeavors. They have strongly identified with the charities, and in many cases, have provided yearly, recurring support. In both times of stability and times of great stress, our members' generosity is amazing.

We can't continue to accomplish our mission without your enduring support. Last year might have changed how you look at life. Are you looking for new ways to help your community? If so, one way to accomplish this is by donating to our charities, whether small or large, single, recurring, or through planned giving.

On behalf of those who receive assistance from both of our charities — and for your past, present, and future support — from your MOAA teammates, thank you!

Ensuring the Foundation's Wide-Reaching Impact

Val P. Hawkins and Katherine Ponds, founding board members of The MOAA Foundation who are now in their second term of service, share a desire to support the military.

Hawkins, who has had a long, successful career in real estate development and economic development, still remembers what it was like when he returned in 1967 from serving 18 months in Korea and Vietnam as an Army lieutenant.

"When I got out of Vietnam in May of 1967, they weren't quite welcoming us home and treating veterans the way they do today," he said. "The only program was the GI Bill."

Ponds' regard for the military began with her father, who served as a lieutenant in the Army Corps of Engineers during World War II, as a captain in the National Guard, and then had a civilian career working for an intelligence agency.

"If you want to attract the best and brightest to the military, you have to be able to have Americans recognize that when people leave the military, they're leaving it with a firm, solid, positive future ahead of them," said Ponds, who has extensive experience in career transition strategies.

Hawkins and Ponds say they are proud of the assistance the foundation offers to help veterans and their families transition from the military into civilian life and the work done through the community grant program.

"It's just a real honor to do it," Hawkins said. "I feel like I'm making a contribution to the foundation where we're helping veterans through career transition, and the professional education outreach we do for the military spouse, and the community outreach grants we give every year."

"The community grants are just touching so many people, and the foundation has been able to grow that initiative, and therefore impact the lives of many," Ponds said. "In the area of career transition, there are a lot of opportunities out there for veterans, but if you are waiting until the very last second, there's a lot of information coming at you and your ability to sort through that on your own is incredibly difficult. The work that MOAA does in that area is top notch." ■■■

CMDR. PAT KLUEVER, USN (RET)
President of the Historic Mayport (Fla.) Chapter

The Historic Mayport (Fla.) Chapter received a $5,000 Community Outreach Grant and a $5,000 COVID-19 Chapter Relief Grant. Cmdr. Pat Kluever, USN (Ret), said grant funds combat food insecurity affecting active-duty enlisted servicemembers and their families through two programs run by USO Mayport. Both prepared meals and raw food are distributed in a no-contact drive-through format.

'Our grants are especially impactful for active-duty enlisted military families because military servicemembers tend to not accept assistance from food banks or local charities. However, they see USO as part of their support team and are comfortable accepting assistance from this venerable and trusted organization. Unfortunately, the list of families with urgent needs has grown to over 100 families in our area.'

CYNTHIA & GRACE FARMER

Finances have been a struggle for Cynthia Farmer and her 3-year-old daughter, Grace, since her husband, a veteran, passed away in 2017. When the COVID-19 lockdown hit and it became unsafe for Farmer to work, she fell behind on her mortgage payment and utility bills. She reached out to The MOAA Foundation and was awarded a COVID-19 Relief Grant in January.

'My daughter and I are so grateful to find a good-hearted organization that helped us to pay our bills. We can't thank you enough. We are thankful that we still have our home, and we are not in the dark. It was a huge help. Please continue to help other people who are struggling financially. We really appreciate you.'

FOUNDATION 2020

MOAA Charities Annual Report

2020 ANNUAL CAMPAIGN

The MOAA Foundation would like to offer a very special thanks to the many individual donors who contributed to last year's annual campaign by donating in support of the foundation's military family programs. We exceeded our goal of receiving donations from 3,000 MOAA members and more than doubled the amount received in individual donations in 2019. Much of this support was directed to our COVID-19 relief efforts and we are grateful for your generosity.

COL. PETER BAKTIS, USA (RET)
 President, New Jersey Lakes and Pines Chapter

The New Jersey Lakes and Pines Chapter of MOAA donated $1,000 to the COVID-19 Relief Fund in response to an appeal last year from MOAA President and CEO Gen. Dana T. Atkins, USAF (Ret). Several of the 123 members also made personal donations in an effort to address the needs of servicemembers and families who were struggling during the pandemic, according to chapter President Col. Peter Baktis, USA (Ret). Giving is part of the chapter's culture, he said.

'Our chapter has from its early foundation established a charitable fund. We have supported the mission of many local organizations that needed assistance. We also have a scholarship program where we offer competitive scholarships to more than 24 JROTC programs in our geographic area.'

2020 SOURCES AND USES OF THE MOAA FOUNDATION

SOURCES

USES

Career Transition:

- Held nine virtual career fairs with almost 4,000 military, veteran, and spouse job seekers registered.
- Conducted 46 virtual career transition lectures with more than 1,800 registrants.

Professional Education Outreach:

- Our financial and benefits experts delivered 38 virtual financial information classes to more than 1,000 attendees.

Military Spouse Professional Development:

- Continued grant program for military spouses to provide hardware and software required to successfully telework. As more people work from home, and with many children not returning to in-person school, computers, laptops, and tablets are in greater demand. We removed the requirement of a PCS move to be eligible for a new workstation. Therefore, military spouses can have a workstation solely for work purposes.

Community Outreach:

- Disbursed $84,832 in Community Outreach Grants to 23 chapters and councils. Funds went to local communities for programs supporting housing, food, and emergency financial relief for veterans in need; school supplies for military children; veteran transition assistance, critical home improvements for veteran homeowners unable to do repairs, and more.

COVID-19 Relief:

- Awarded more than $94,000 in Emergency Financial Relief Grants and processed more than 286 applications.
- Granted $5,000 COVID-19 Grants to 11 qualified MOAA chapters working in their local communities to support COVID relief efforts, for a total of $55,000.
- $60,000 went to MOAA Career Transition platforms facilitating free virtual events, including virtual career fairs, networking events, education webinars and lectures.

KARLYN BARRON

Karlyn Barron, a nursing student at James Madison University who expects to graduate in May 2022, was the recipient of the Leoffler-Collins Family Designated Scholarship in 2019 and 2020. Future plans include a possible focus on labor and delivery or midwifery. When she's not studying, Barron enjoys spending time with family and friends, going to the gym, and reading.

'A huge thanks to MOAA and the Leoffler family for supporting hardworking students around the country. I plan to continue working as hard as I can to make their support worthwhile. MOAA understands that growing up in a military family is not always easy, and I can say for the military kids, we're grateful for their selfless encouragement and support.'

Paying It Forward

MOAA Life Member Capt. Frank Leoffler Jr., USN (Ret), and his wife, Cmdr. Kathleen Collins Leoffler, NC, USNR (Ret), always told their daughter, Kimberly, that she could attend college anywhere she wanted. She chose the University of Southern California, and a MOAA Scholarship Fund loan helped make it possible.

"We had saved up for her college, and going to a private school kind of put ... pressure on our budget. Having the scholarship allowed us to manage our finances a little better," said Frank, a former naval aviator who served in several staff positions before becoming a commercial pilot.

Kimberly, who graduated with a degree in journalism in 2015, recently took a job with AccuWeather and is busy reporting on weather events across the country.

"I'm very appreciative for the assistance MOAA provided towards funding my college education," she said. "I know my education is why I am where I am today."

The Leofflers were so pleased they were able to fund their daughter's education without incurring huge debts that they decided to fund a scholarship after paying off the loan shortly after her graduation.

"It was so helpful to us, and we had the financial ability to do it, so we wanted to pass that on to another family," said Kathleen, who served in the Navy

Nurse Corps and as a nurse practitioner and nursing instructor in the civilian sector.

The Leoffler-Collins Family Designated Scholarship, named after their fathers, who were WWII veterans, was a five-year-commitment that concluded last fall. While not a stipulation, the Leofflers listed a preference that the recipient be interested in either aviation or nursing.

The Leofflers are considering recommitting to another scholarship in the future, and they encourage others to support the scholarship program as well.

"MOAA is very easy to work with," Kathleen said. "The money is taken out on a monthly basis, so it really doesn't financially hurt that much to provide $5,000 a year."

"You can either write them a check for $25,000, or you can write them a check for $5,000 a year for a couple years, or you do monthly installments, and that's what we did," Frank said. ■■■

SCHOLARSHIP 2020

MOAA Charities Annual Report

Laurie and Art Horsch Designated Scholarship

The late Cmdr. Arthur R. Horsch, USN (Ret), and his wife, Laurie, valued education. When their father's last wishes requested that memorials be made to MOAA scholarships, his children — Lisa Horsch Clark, Steven Horsch, Richard Horsch, and Robert Horsch — knew what to do to honor their parents' memory. They added to the memorial gifts and created the Laurie and Art Horsch Designated Scholarship.

'We want to honor my parents, thank them for their sacrifices made for us, and make it more affordable for other young people to continue their educations. My parents were humble people. They would be happy to know that their friends, family, and loved ones remembered them fondly and valued the importance of education.'

Its tax identification number is 54-1659039. A member of the Military Family and Veterans Service Organizations of America, it is rated "Best in America" by the Independent Charities of America.

MOAA is committed to demonstrating the highest standards of public accountability and stewardship of donors' gifts. Contact MOAA's Member Service Center, (800) 234-MOAA, to request the Scholarship Fund's most recent audited financial statements.

THE WAGONER FAMILY

MOAA Life Member Lt. Col. Thomas Wagoner Jr., USMC (Ret), and his wife, Susan, are doubly grateful for MOAA's assistance. Their daughter Audrey is the recipient of a scholarship that has assisted in her journey to become an attorney, and she benefited greatly from a MOAA supplemental health insurance policy that helped with expenses when she was treated for cancer as a high school junior.

'Audrey is majoring in political science and has two minors — global studies and human rights and humanitarian affairs — and is applying to law school. The scholarship was such a bright spot this year during the pandemic. Thanks to the generosity of MOAA, the scholarship covered our daughter's remaining tuition and fees as well as her living expenses.'
